Larkin Clubs-of-Ten Make Spare Moments Profitable

PART of an afternoon, a leisure evening, or any spare time can be turned to account by interesting your friends in the Larkin Club-of-Ten.

By means of this popular plan each of ten families secures $10.00 worth of the Larkin Products and a Larkin Premium by making ten payments of $1.00 each. The organizer of a Club-of-Ten is liberally rewarded.

If you are the Club's Secretary, you secure the present-for-cash of 50 cents' worth of Products on each $10.00 assortment ordered and a Certificate Premium on each $10.00 remitted in accordance with the rules on page 2 of our Premium List.

Make Your Clubs Popular

You can conduct a number of Larkin Clubs-of-Ten at the same time. Many organizers do. A Club can be operated continuously, to the lasting profit of members and organizers. Arrange some little entertainment at the meetings, and you will soon find that membership in your Clubs will be eagerly sought. The Newspaper Comment on last pages show how Larkin Club-of-Ten meetings may be enlivened and made popular.

A leaflet containing easily arranged programs and hints on entertaining will be sent postpaid, on request. Address Larkin Co., Club-of-Ten Dept., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for Entertainment Suggestions.

On request we send, postpaid, Premium List containing over 1200 liberal offers of Premiums given free.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

The Larkin Clubs-of-Ten met in Grange Hall yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a very pleasant time, playing carrom, eating ice-cream and having a good time generally. The hall was tastefully decorated with flowers, and altogether it was one of the pleasantest events of the season.—Traverse City (Mich.) Evening Record.

The Larkin Club-of-Ten met with Mrs. M. Ryan, Wednesday evening, it being her turn to receive her premium. The Secretary, Mrs. Ed. Hall, made the evening a pleasant one by games, music and refreshments.—Salamanca (N. Y.) Union.

The Birdsboro members of the Larkin Club-of-Ten held a "Soap" party at the residence of John Squibb, Walnut Street, on Wednesday evening. Only members of the club were present. Refreshments were served. The club has been in existence a long time, and through the Larkin Idea it secures soap and other articles at Factory-to-Family prices.—Reading (Pa.) Eagle.

Mrs. J. Rowe and A. R. Cochran entertained two Larkin Clubs-of-Ten at the home of the latter, 40 Hamilton Street, Tuesday afternoon. Next month the clubs will be entertained at the home of Mrs. T. B. Davis, who will be assisted by Mrs. W. J. Weller.—Muskegon (Mich.) Chronicle.

A unique and delightful event was the observance of "Gentlemen's Night" by the members of three Larkin Clubs-of-Ten and their invited guests. Conversation, whist and dancing were the order of the evening, and towards its close, but not until after ice-cream and cake had been served, all joined in singing a special version of "Sweet Home." As a souvenir, each gentleman received a cake of Larkin Shaving Soap. All were delighted.—Woodsville (N. H.) News.

The Larkin Club-of-Ten met at the house of A. B. Mills last Thursday; and sent in its first order for soap, Mrs. H. E. Lobeck being the lucky one for the first premium.—Hammondsport (N. Y.) Herald.

Mrs. P. J. Humphry entertained the members of the Larkin Club-of-Ten at her home. About forty guests were present, who enjoyed a program by the children. Mrs. Humphry was presented with a Tea Set from the club. Later in the evening light refreshments were served.—Galesburg (Ill.) Mail.

A Larkin Club-of-Ten has been organized at Lime Lake, with Miss Mabel Potter as Secretary.—Machias (N. Y.) Star.

By far the most popular club life in Iola now is closely allied to soap. Browning, Tennyson, Current Events and other topics of interest to the average club-woman have given way to the all-absorbing topic of Larkin Soap, which is good, pure and cleanses the finest fabric without injury. There are probably fifty Larkin Clubs-of-Ten in operation in Iola now, and a dozen promoters are at work on more. A club is supposed to die in ten months, but a dozen are ready to take its place. The women find the Premiums are worth more money than they paid in, and the Soaps are secured free. If you haven't joined a Club-of-Ten you will have no trouble in getting an invitation.—Iola (Kans.) Daily Record.

The Larkin Clubs-of-Ten are extraordinarily popular. One teamster in this city is kept busy delivering the Larkin Soaps. Almost 50% of the housekeepers of the town are either agents for or are in some manner interested in the Larkin Soap Clubs, and they furnish their homes with the Premiums.—Shamokin (Pa.) Daily News.

Speaking of Clubs: Some are formed for sociability, some for gaining knowledge, and some for the general benefit received by the members. The latest club to be organized in this city is the Larkin Club-of-Ten, with the motto, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," emblazoned upon its banner. The members have pleasant times at the meetings.—Midland (Mich.) Republican.

The Larkin Club-of-Ten met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Shipley, Tuesday. Ten members were present, all women, and a good time is reported. Dinner was served by Mrs. Shipley, who also presented each member with a dainty Larkin calendar.—Richmond (Ohio) Gazette.

The home of J. H. Johnson and wife at Faunce was the scene of much merriment Saturday evening, the occasion being a party given in honor of the Larkin Club-of-Ten to their families. The most amusing feature of the evening consisted in placing the tusk on the elephant, blindfolded, for which Oliver Deane received the first prize and George McClellan the booby prize. After games and music, refreshments were served. Having spent a most enjoyable evening, the guests departed, leaving pleasant memories to their Secretary, Mrs. Johnson.—Clearfield (Pa.) Monitor.
